

Contents

Introduction	1
Abraham Olivier, M. John Lamola, and Justin Sands

Part 1 Origin, Methodology, and Scope

1 African Phenomenology—What Is That?	15
Abraham Olivier
2 Some Reflections from Africana Phenomenology on African Phenomenology	37
Lewis R. Gordon
3 Why Husserl in Africa? Autobiographical Reflections	63
Paulin J. Hountondji
4 Hountondji and Husserl: Subjectivity, Responsibility, and Phenomenology in the Critique of Ethnophilosophy	79
Patrick Eldridge
5 Philosophical Universality in Crisis: Hountondji's Interruption of Husserlian Phenomenology	99
Carmen De Schryver

Part 2 Consciousness, Identity, Existence, and Embodiment

6 Chabani Manganyi: The Lived Experience of Difference	127
Mabogo Percy More

7	A Post-Sartrean Reflection on Being Black in the World: Reading Steve Biko through Slavoj Žižek M. John Lamola	153
8	Blackness as a Conundrum for Phenomenology Keolebogile Mbebe and Thabang Dladla	175
9	Merleau-Ponty, Embodied Subjectivity, and (White) Women Dancing Rianna Oelofsen	191
10	The Experience of Community and the Meaningful Life Ada Agada	207

Part 3

Art, Culture, Language, Politics, and Liberation

11	Savage Objects: On the Restitution of Alienated Meaning Achille Mbembe	225
12	On the Phenomenology of a Shared World in Achille Mbembe Schalk Gerber	249
13	The Voice of African Philosophy Tsenay Serequeberhan	269
14	Communal Space, Communal Temporality: Kwasi Wiredu and Henri Bergson in Dialogue Justin Sands	285
15	Artifacts of Emotion and Existence in Unjust Structures Uchenna Okeja	305
16	Experience and Text: Toward an African-Language Phenomenology Alena Rettová	321
	Contributors	339
	Index	343