

An affordable, versatile, and state-of-the-art partnership

SUNY Press recognizes the great value of journals in disseminating, showcasing, and branding the scholarly research and creative work of organizations, academic departments, and institutes.

Publishing a journal, though, is complex, time-consuming, and costly. So much is involved in doing a journal right—submissions need to be vetted, processed, and copyedited in a timely manner; each issue needs to be typeset, designed, and published in print and/or digital formats; issues need to be stored in accessible physical and digital locations; institutional and individual subscriptions need to be priced and fulfilled; requests to purchase print or digital copies of individual issues or select articles must be honored as expeditiously as possible; the journal should be exhibited at appropriate regional and national conferences and sent to relevant review media; and the subscriber base needs to grow steadily through targeted annual promotional initiatives.

Let us help you publish your journal as effectively and seamlessly as possible.

- What do you want? We'll customize our partnership to meet your needs directly and relieve you of unnecessary tasks and responsibilities. We can focus on marketing and selling your journal and leave the rest up to you ... or we can do more—copyediting, typesetting, and design.
- Timeliness is everything. We'll work with you closely to establish a publishing schedule that is reasonable and reliable. We'll set forth a timely, dependable schedule based on our mutual responsibilities, and stick to it. You do your part and we'll do ours.
- Readers will enjoy a plethora of choices for purchasing your journal. The journal will be available in both digital and print formats, and can be purchased as whole issues, individual articles, or bundles of articles within an issue or across multiple issues. It's their choice!
- Your journal subscription will be priced affordably, appropriate for its readership. SUNY Press is a not-for-profit university press, and so is not driven strictly to maximize profit margins when pricing its publications. We recognize that journals today often cost an extraordinary amount of money to subscribe to or read. We do not agree with this practice, and will work with you to establish subscription rates that are reasonable for your readers and allow us to cover overhead costs.

SUNY Press – Beyond The Book

The Center for Scholarly Communication for the State University of New York

For more information, contact
James Peltz • Co-Director
518.641.0668 • james.peltz@sunypress.edu
www.sunypress.edu