One of the first multi-disciplinary journals in North America, Mediaevalia (ISSN: 0361-946X) was founded in 1975 and continues to provide a forum for innovative scholarship across a variety of fields in the Middle Ages and early Renaissance. Published once annually, the journal remains committed to rigorous standards of peer review. We invite submissions on all aspects of the textual and visual cultures of the pre-modern world to 1500. We particularly seek essays that are interdisciplinary in methodology and/or intercultural in scope. Mediaevalia is the winner of the Council of Learned Journals 2012 Phoenix Award for Significant Editorial Achievement.

Manuscripts to be considered for publication should be double-spaced throughout, and should be submitted in English, via <https://mediaevalia.scholasticahq.com/for-authors>. In order to maintain anonymity in the review process, please ensure that your name does not appear in the attachment. Figures and images should not exceed the number of 5, should be formatted as tiff or jpeg files, and should be 300 dpi or greater with a width of at least 4.5 inches. All images should be accompanied with reproduction permissions. If you also wish to submit a hard copy, it should be sent to Olivia Holmes, Editor-in-Chief, CEMERS, Binghamton University, Binghamton, NY 13902-6000. For matters of style, please consult our style sheet, which can be found at www.mediaevalia.org. In general, a manuscript should have a minimum of 15 pages and a maximum of 40.
